

The Adventures of Polly and Peter: The Last Day

The Last Day

Polly and Peter sat back down with Fay,
To talk about all their adventurous days.
They had learned so much going to and fro
About looking after our precious world and so...

Polly interrupted, “But we are only two polar bears
These things to do, we cannot share.
How do they help look after our home too?
Great things to do that will really help you.”

“Aha! Now listen up!” replied Fay
Who had lots to say,
“Sorting rubbish, using the sun,
They help YOU to keep having fun...

If we don't look after where we live,
Then sometimes the earth with have no rain to give.

The earth needs rain for plants to grow,
To give us food and water that flows...

And as the earth gets hot, hot, hot,
Your ice will melt and there won't be a lot.

Your beautiful home, all white and icy,
Might soon be ruined, become so tiny, tiny.”

So what we have learned can make things better,
Help stop the ice melting and the weather getting wetter.

Hey everybody! Let's all try the best we can do

Because after all, it's your planet too!
